OMEN'S HARDING REPUBLICAN CLUB OF ULSTER COUNTY IS ORGANIZED

race Van B. Roberts President—One of First Acts is To Call For Pledging of Candidates to Enforcement of Prohibition Laws—Nothing Organization Can't Achieve, Says Mrs. Van Ness.

Both at the morning session and afternoon meeting held at the art house on Wednesday by what now The Women's Harding Republican Club of Ulster County, there re a few outstanding features rthy of note. It was not a feminmovement. The old cry of seek- "Women's Rights," was superled by the present idea of educatwomen to know their political rileges and responsibilities and ke use of them. Representative men of Ulster county stand ematically for law enforcement. Exgestion was given to women's apciation of the country's irreparle loss in the death of the late sident Harding.

The morning meeting adjourned so e that a full report of it could not d its way into the columns of ednesday's Freeman. For instance, ere were some things that Mrs. Edrd Young said that should be ken note of. She read a most rearkable editorial from a western per, on Presidnet Harding in which called attention to the deeply reious, spiritual and evangelical nd of his last addresses. And they re so sincere, so fine that even rd-boiled politicians were deeply pressed by the above-mentioned aracteristics, noting that the peo- like a president like that, and like have him like that, not to get votes t as supporting the Golden Rule as e guide of our country. Mrs. Young ought that the Golden Rule would about the best one for the women the country, too. Later in her lk, Mrs. Young told of addressing women of the county in several stances on "Civics," only to find at they really wanted to know out politics. She advised them to and do the things that the suffrage s made their privilege; go and see w men do things as far as methods She would not say that the men of the county were out to put men in office, though she did recogze the fact that here and there these ght be a woman so situated that, thout jeopardizing the home in any y—woman's home duties being he- any political duties—she could ld some political office and that th marked ability. What the omen want to do is to support and courage right government. "With omen in the majority in the churchand the minority in the jails, they t best accomplish the good they g for by joining hands in helping build up a right political life in ery community."

After Mrs. Young's address, Miss berts asked Miss Haldane to read telegram which she had received om her sister, Mrs. Francis J. Higrson—whom she represented—and e did so. The telegram was as llows: "Telephone Miss Roberts at I think the meeting Wednesday. stead of being a misfortune, is a e opportunity for the women of ster county to send a message of ndolence to Mrs. Harding with logy of the late president's gentle d noble character." At the afterpon session the suggestion was comied with and the following telegram, signed by the committee having the meeting and luncheon in arge—Miss Grace van B. Roberts, rs. Francis J. Leggett, Mrs. Fran- J. Higginson (signed for by Miss aldane), Mrs. Clarence Elting and rs. William Simmons—was sent:

rs Warren G. Harding, Washingon, D. C.

The Women's Harding Republican ub of Ulster county, N. Y., formed day, wishes to express sympathy the overwhelming loss to you and the nation. President Harding suremely met the world's great need human loving-kindness, founded a love of God. His great wisdom d courage have well defined the als of our United States to the rld.

It was announced before the uncheon that Mr. Winne had made exception to his rule of entertain- more than one delegation a ek by entertaining the women of Women's Harding Republican ub of Ulster county, and in so do- proved that Mr. Winne was a st gracious and capable host for "luncheon" was both elaborate d delicious. Mrs. Charles W. berts of New York city, mother of s Roberts, was the gracious and arming hostess of the luncheon.

The afternoon session opened with brief memorial service honoring late President Harding. The offials of the court house entered the urt room in a body, and they and e entire body of women stood ile the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, stor of the Elmendorf Street Presterian Church, offered a prayer in ich he invoked divine guidance the nation; for President Coolge for our American citizenship d the utmost of divine comfort d support for Mrs. Harding in this ur of prostrating sorrow.

The report of the nominating committee—Miss Haldane, Mrs. Palen, rs. Heaton and Mrs. John Pratt—as then given as follows:

President—Miss Grace van B. Roberts.

First Vice-President—Mrs. Francis Higginson.

Second Vice-President—Mrs. Edard Young.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. C. J. Elting.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. William Simmons.

Treasurer—Mrs. Frank Le Fevre.

Publicity Committee—Mrs. Edward Young, Mrs. Carrie Sears, Mrs. C. N. Reed.

Membership Committee—Mrs. Frank J. Potter, Miss Antoinette DuBois, Mrs. Kate Covert.

By-Laws Committee—Mrs. Joseph Preston, Miss Grace Merritt.

There was one nomination from the floor, that of Mrs. J. Albert Palen of Wallkill, as second vice-president. On motion of Mrs. Frank Thompson of this city, it was voted to add to the slate a third vice-president, and Mrs. Palen was nominated as third vice-president. The full report of the nominating committee and the amendment were unanimously accepted, and the named officers duly declared elected.

A resolution offered by Mrs. Palen to the effect that the Women of the Harding Republican Club of Ulster county stand firmly for law enforcement, was unanimously passed. And a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Roberts and the committee having the meetings in charge as well as to Mrs. Roberts for her hospitality was also given, together with expressions of appreciation of the service which Miss Roberts had in this wise rendered her county.

The first speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Van Ness of New Jersey, a woman who has done things in politics in her state; a remarkably clear and forceful speaker with that fine sense of humor that clinches a homedriven point; thorough knowledge of what she is about; convincing presentation of her subject and withal a charming personality. She spoke on "Law Enforcement." Mrs. Van Ness said there were three angles to what she had to talk about. There was prohibition which has now become a part of our constitution, in spite of the opponents' cry that the law had been put over while thousands of overseas men could not vote. She believed that those splendid young men were quite like the fine manhood at home that voted dry. (Applause.) Then there was the question of "Intoxicating beverages," in other words the Volstead act, which was answered according to the brewers and the medical societies to be ½ of 1 per cent alcohol. There was one difference in the Eighteenth Amendment from all the other nineteen and that was this. The others all state that "congress shall have power to enact the foregoing," while the Eighteenth states that "congress and the states shall have concurrent power to enforce this law," thus calling upon the states or to aid in its enforcement. Then she took note of the fact that we had had some unique sessions of the legislature, with the result that we have no state enforcement law, though New York and New Jersey are about the wettest states on earth. It was Mrs. Van Ness's prophesy that no nominee for president of the United States could run successfully on a wet platform. Then she made a very emphatic statement to the effect that prohibition is over and done with, and the only way that it can be undone is by a twenty-first amendment making such enactment. Mrs. Van Ness's account of how she secured the passage of the Van Ness act on law enforcement in New Jersey was well worth attending the entire session to hear.

Mrs. Van Ness considered any diminution of the power of the Constitution to mean that conditions such as prevail in Russia will prevail here, and that any weakening of even one part of the Constitution would weaken the whole.

As for political organizations being bad because ruled by a boss, Mrs. Van Ness's remedy would be to convert the bad organization into a good and useful machine of service, and she advised the women to furnish the oil to make smooth the running of the machine. Then the speaker called attention to the fact that, following the world war there has come into the minds of men and women, new lines of thought in every activity of life, and one of the chiefest of these is honesty. One form of honesty in politics is the keeping of promises, and Mrs. Van Ness told graphically of how in her own state all of the requests of the women were complied with by the Republican Committee the first year of Woman's Suffrage. The next year only half of what they asked for was granted and the third year not a thing they asked for was given them. Then she put it up straight to the men. "We have asked for certain laws and conditions and you have not granted them. We have worked hard,—which was granted. Now then, do the men of the committee want the women to keep on working in the interest of the party?" Of course they did. "Then," said Mrs. Van Ness, "if we work for the best interest of the party, grant our requests for beneficial legislation or we will go out for patronage." The speaker said that almost paralyzed the men when they realized that the women meant what they said, and the organized women won out. In fact it was the speakers opinion that if well organized the women could get anything they wanted. Again she made it plain that the decent people of the land are the ones who defeat decent government by staying home when they should be out attending to their political duty and she illustrated her point by a clever story of how one young man in her city of East Orange won an election by two votes.

Mrs. Van Ness closed by analyzing the term "Good Government," as follows: "Good," is God. "Government," is to rule; good government must be the rule of God. But to have and hold good government, we must keep everlastingly at the job, and, said Mrs. Van Ness, "With all your getting, get understanding." She received an ovation after her address.

It was expected that Mary Garrett Hay would be the other speaker of the afternoon, but finding it impossible to be present, she asked Mrs. Shuler of Buffalo, well-known in Kingston to take her place. Mrs. Shuler said that she spoke under two handicaps: In the first place no one could fill Miss Hay's place; and in the second place she had to follow Mrs. Van Ness. Mrs. Shuler also made it plain that the issue today is no longer that of wet or dry but of law enforcement, and then she asked, "But how can we women get the law enforced?" Her answer was the formation of an organization made up of individual women of right purpose, who would consider politics not something to avoid and disregard, but a matter next in importance to their religion. Moreover, if they wanted to secure law enforcement or any other wise legislation they would have to get into the very sanctum sanctorum of their political parties and learn their workings if they would improve those workings. And in view of what it means to our country, the speaker urged all women to go into politics until law enforcement shall be an established fact, if for no longer, only she thought that if they went in that long they would stay. During her address Mrs. Shuler had read from an article in which Sioux City and its schools had vigorously protested at the action of New York state in its repeal of the Mullan-Gage act, and in view of that protest the following resolution was offered and passed:

Resolved: Whereas the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law has placed the state of New York in a position that makes our loyalty to the Constitution a matter of comment, throughout the nation, we, the women of the Women's Harding Republican Club of Ulster County, respectfully ask the members of the Republican Committee of Ulster County at their convention on August 11th, to nominate for office only such men as will promise to do all in their power to work for law enforcement in this state.

In accepting her election as president of the Women's Harding Republican Club of Ulster County, Miss Roberts expressed her appreciation of the honor and said she would do her best to fill the office for a year until just the right leader could be found. She was sure that this club had come to stay and asked for the loyal support and cooperation of the Republican women of the county. Since in politics numbers count Miss Roberts asked for a large enrollment in the club—some seventy women enrolled in the morning and many more enrolled before the meeting closed. Miss Roberts not only asked for the steady growth of the club but that it might not let Mr. Van Wagenen go back into office. She further asked for members for the club from the county towns, saying it was not the policy of the club to be aggressive but helpful. In closing Miss Roberts thanked all who had helped to make the organization of the Women's Harding Republican Club of Ulster County and the whole meeting a success, as well as Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck who had secured for them the use of the court room.

PUBLIC MARKET OPENS TUESDAY

Chamber of Commerce and City to Pay For Use of Field Court and Growers Will Pay Commissioner's Salary.

At a well attended meeting of the Kingston Market Growers' Association held Thursday evening at the court house it was practically decided that the public market would be opened next Tuesday in Field Court. Some time ago John Herring of Ulster Park, president of the Market Growers' Association, was notified that the rental of the Field Court grounds would be $150 for the season and that the Chamber of Commerce would meet onehalf of that expense and the city the other half provided the association would raise funds for the market commissioner's salary, the moneys to be deposited with the Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting this proposition was put up to the growers and they decided to give $5 each toward the fund. At the meeting $40 was collected and turned over to Secretary Coe of the Chamber of Commerce and the growers will go out and raise the remainder of the money necessary. A great deal of interest was shown and there is every indication that the necessary funds will be raised and the market opened on Tuesday.

CUNO'S DEFIANCE BALKS BALDWIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, Aug. 9.—The defiant Reich-tag speech of Chancellor Cuno of Germany, had put fresh obstacles in the way of a reparations settlement when the British cabinet again met today to canvass the situation. There was a general air of pessimism and some officials expressed the fear that the task of reaching a solution might prove a hopeless one.

Chancellor Cuno's declaration that Germany would continue passive resistance in the Ruhr, coupled with the determined attitude of the pro-French members of the cabinet, intensified the burden upon Premier Stanley Baldwin.

The "die-hards," as the pro-French officials are known, feel their position has been strengthened by the Cuno statement with its challenge to France.

It is understood, however, that the premier and foreign secretary, Lord Curzon, are determined that no further concessions shall be made to France except as a last resort.

British newspapers took a gloomy view of the situation.

CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATS OPENS

Senator Copeland Unable to Come—Other and Only Slightly Less Prominent Statesmen Make Addresses—300 Delegates Get Free Dinners.

The unofficial Democratic county convention opened at the Kingston Opera House at 11:30 this morning about 300 being present among the delegates being about 15 women. James Jenkins, chairman of the county committee presided, Henry E. McKenzie being the secretary. On motion Isidore Sampson and William G. Merritt were named a committee on credentials. A short recess was taken while the delegates elected handed in their credentials and the committee made up the roll call.

Herbert C. Pell, chairman of the Democratic state committee arrived shortly before 12 o'clock and after being introduced to a number of the Democratic warhorses, among them William S. Doyle of Ellenville, Bruyn Hasbrouck of New Paltz, Joseph J. McGrath of Phoenicia, Fred Smith of Marlborough, Roscoe Irwin, James Jenkins and others, Chairman Jenkins returned to the stage and named James J. Murphy as a committee to escort State Chairman Pells who made a short address in which he stated that it was an important campaign to be carried on this year. That it was necessary to elect a Democratic Assembly this fall as there were a number of important matters to be accomplished and that the Democrats had accomplished much last year. There were two important issues this year, one of which was the right of the individual to lead his own life, referring to personal liberty, and second the reduction of the tariff, dwelling on both issues and guaranteeing what the Democratic party will do if successful in securing congress. He said if any Democrat was asked questions on any point as to the tariff if they would write to him he would send them an answer covering the question asked. The people should be free to govern themselves and have their own way. The speaker was applauded when he finished.

When the committee on resolutions was called upon to report, City Judge Harry Schirick, of the committee, stated that Roscoe Irwin had drafted the following:

To the Unofficial Democratic Convention:

Your committee on resolutions, having considered various matters presented to the committee for consideration, being of the opinion that resolutions of a partisan character should not at this time be reported or acted upon, but that a resolution in reference to the death of our president should be the only consideration of your committee, respectfully report the following:

Offered by Roscoe Irwin:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to call from our midst to His Eternal Kingdom our worthy president, Warren G. Harding, who by his genial and kindly characteristics endeared himself to all, and, who was such a commanding figure not only in domestic life but in all important international relationships; and

Whereas, by his untimely taking off, our country has lost one of its most able leaders and the world at large an earnest, persistent and conscientious advocate of universal peace on earth and good will toward man; and

Whereas, we feel it fitting and proper to record in open convention our great sorrow in the loss of our president, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Democratic party of Ulster county in convention assembled, through its accredited representatives, hereby gives expression of its sincere sorrow in the great substantial loss sustained by our country, and the people of the world generally, in the death of our president; and be it further

Resolved, that we extend to his faithful, loyal and loving widow our deep sympathy and condolence in this, her time of extreme trial and grief.

Respectfully submitted,
ROSCOE IRWIN,
JOHN E. KRAFT,
WILLIAM S. DOYLE,
Committee on Resolutions.

Dated, August 9, 1923.

On motion, the preamble and resolution were adopted by a rising vote.

A communication was read from John J. Burns of Sullivan county, who was defeated for election for congress last year, being the Democratic candidate, in which he predicted success for the Democratic party at the coming fall election.

On motion of Bruyn Hasbrouck of New Paltz, the report of the committee on credentials was received and Secretary Henry McKenzie read the roll call.

Secretary McKenzie then read the roll call which was on motion of Charles D. Deyo of this city, adopted.

On motion of Bruyn Hasbrouck of New Paltz in towns where there is no full representation of delegates those present be empowered to vote in place of the absentees.

William G. Merritt then made an important announcement which was that he would pass out dinner tickets to delegates as they answered to the roll call. He said that delegates should carefully look at the ticket received as 100 were for the Stuyvesant, 100 for the Eagle Hotel and 100 for the Advance restaurant, where each diner would get a fine dinner.

A message was then read from United States Senator-elect Royal S. Copeland in which he sent regrets upon his inability to be present as he was attending the funeral ceremonies for the late President Harding.

The convention about 1 o'clock took a recess until 2 p. m.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GEORGIE FROG

Georgie Frog, known better as Georgie Green Frog, decided he would like to go into business. So he went around and talked to many people who were interested in business.

He heard all their ideas on the subject, some he approved of and some he did not, but he listened to them all.

One told him that it was very necessary in business to have ability, which meant that it was necessary to be able to do things. And that, Georgie Green Frog thought, was quite true.

He was told by another that the more education one had the better it was. Well, he agreed with that. He had been a good student of how was the best way to catch bugs.

Some one else told him that it was very important to use one's head in business. Well, Georgie Green Frog agreed with that. He didn't see how a headless creature could get along in business!

Certainly a headless person wouldn't be able to talk or eat or sleep. Yes, he felt it was important to use one's head in business and also even more important to have a head to use.

He had been told that creatures should get along with others, listen to the ideas of others, but not to be so dependent upon others that they couldn't make use of opportunities that came their way. He thought that was good advice.

He was ready to hear what others said, but he wasn't going to be listening so hard that he'd miss any bugs passing around his way. No indeed!

He was told that when one was working one should not be thinking of amusements to come. This he didn't agree with at all, for he was able to mix his business and his pleasure together.

He had planned that his business would be the "Delicious Fly and Bug-Snapping Business."

He had been told that a good memory was a great help, and that boastfulness would not help. And, too, he had been told that when one was working one should dress in a costume one wasn't afraid of hurting. Well, he wasn't afraid of hurting his.

Of course if he got spots on it there was always the pond, and the pond was a fine cleaning establishment.

To be sure he couldn't take his suit off and leave it to be cleaned and call back for it a week or ten days later or have it sent to his address, for his suit was with him and had been ever since he had swallowed the old one.

Georgie had been told that it was good to stick to business and not be thinking of other things, but he wouldn't be thinking of other things. He knew that.

He would nap, of course, but he wouldn't nap while there was the business of snapping a fly to be done. And then, too, he was better than a lot of those who gave him advice, for he knew how to nap and yet how not to miss a customer.

A fly or bug could land on his nose and he could be napping, but he would awaken enough to snap it and swallow it before it got away from him. To be sure his customers weren't just the same kind as others had. Many others had customers upon whom they waited, but Georgie's customers waited on him—whenever he was lucky and successful.

Some had told him he must not be small or jealous or fussy or mean and he had agreed with all of that. Yes, Georgie Green Frog had decided he would like to go into business and he had gone around and had succeeded in getting a great deal of excellent advice. But now that he had all the advice he said to himself:

"I will take the advice with which I agree and that with which I do not agree I will not take!"

Then he put up his sign on a branch over his stump home in the pond and as he waited for "customers" he sang this song:

Goog-a-room, goog-a-room, goog-a-room.
Come bugs and flies to your doom!
I shall snap you and swallow you with a good smack,
You won't even have time to whisper, "Alack!"
But to my mind there's no end so fine,
As to land at last in this stomach of mine'
Goog-a-room, goog-a-room, goog-a-room!

A thing of beauty is a joy forever.
Its loveliness increases, it will never
Pass into nothingness, but still will keep
A bower quiet for us to sleep
Full of sweet dreams and health and quiet breathing;
Thus on each morrow we are wreathing
A flowery band to bind us to the earth.

COUNSEL FOR THE COOK

As 80 per cent of the cooks of this country are wives, mothers, housekeepers, sea nstresses, general managers and voters, just about anything of interest to the average woman will be fitting for the cook.

For hot weather hints, the first thing to engage the mind is starting the day right. It may take 15 minutes from the morning nap, but a good shower and rub, or a cold sponge bath will put almost any fairly healthy body in tune for a mid-summer day.

The next important item is proper dressing. Although knit underwear is so reasonable in price and easy to launder (points worthy of consideration) in the hottest weather a thin dimity, crepe or nainsook teddy or union suit will be found much more comfortable, cooler, and does not cling to the body like the knit-wear. In a loose, comfortable, thin corset with a slip which answers for both corset cover and skirt, then a slipover dress of cool, easy-to-wash material, with properly shod feet—shoes with substantial heels—one will be able to meet the day with every advantage of proper bodily care.

The meals for hot weather should be prepared with the idea of not overtaxing the stomach during the warm days. If possible have the heavy meal at night, when the workers of the family may rest in the cool of the day. Cooling vegetables, cucumbers, tomatoes, juicy fruits, custards, junkets, frozen dishes will be found to be most favored.

Fresh fish is easy of digestion and makes a good main dish, with a cucumber or tomato salad. With lemon sherbet for dessert, and some small cakes or cookies, one may feel that the family has been properly fed. Whole wheat bread, graham, rye or wheat bread may be served as one wishes.

WE are equipped with a scientific knowledge of optometry. We can answer Poor Eyesight's cry for help. We will do more than to give you a simple test to discover if you are suffering from far sightedness or from myopia (near sightedness), we will look back into the inner recesses of your eyes and discover their exact defects. We will prescribe glasses for you that will bring back to you the blessing of clear vision.

y Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug. 9.—France is con- ering sending a warning to Ger- ny that the proceeds of the pro- ed internal gold loan may be ed by the reparations commis- on under the Versailles treaty, it learned at the foreign office to- y.

NUXATED IRON

Helps make rich, red blood and revitalize weak nerves

A CAUSE OF WMEON'S ILLS

men Often Think They Have Heart Trouble, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, Etc., When It's Simply Iron Starvation of the Blood.

Many women believe they are weak and ervous as a result of age, worry and verwork, they think that their disturbed estion, headaches, heart palpitation, rtness of breath, pains across the back, c. are due to some serious disease instead f the real cause—iron starvation of the lood. This is proven by the fact that en many of these same women take or- anic iron for awhile all their alarming ymptoms quickly disappear and they be- me strong, robust and healthy. Iron is bsolutely necessary to enable your blood change food into living cells and tissue. Without it nothing you eat does you the roper amount of good—you do not get the trength out of it.

If you are not strong and well do not ait until you go all to pieces and collapse r state of nervous prostration, but take ome organic iron—Nuxated Iron—at once. et be sure it's organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take and which is made merely by the action of trong acids on small pieces of iron. Or- anic NUXATED IRON is like the iron in our blood and like the iron in spinach, ettuce and apples and it often increases he bodily and mental vigor of weak, worn- out women in two weeks' time.

Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the let- ers N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory re- sults. At all druggists.

AS NEIGHBORS KNEW HARDING

Banker, Barber, Editor, Bandsman, Politician and Business Man Tell of His Rugged Virtues, Including Unfailing Good Nature.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Warren Harding, the editor; Warren Harding, the bandsman; Warren Harding, the banker; Warren Harding, the printer; Warren Harding, the church member; Warren Harding, the neighbor; Warren Harding, the friend—came home today.

The nation has paid its tribute to its dead president. Today Marion receives him back into the community where he was born and where he grew to world fame.

Let's stop a moment and look at Warren Harding through the eyes of the men who knew him best.

"As an editor."

"He was the "whitest" man in all the world. He never criticized. If he thought you were wrong he had the knack of pointing out that the fact in such a way as to make you feel good about it. I never saw him angry. He was the most tolerant of men in public life. He was always thoughtful of others. Warren G. Harding never knowingly wronged anyone." George McCormick, managing editor, Marion Star.

"As a bandsman"

"Back in 1883 we had the Marion Silver Cornet Band. This young fellow joined up. And a darned good tooter he was. One time at the Fair Grounds the Bucyrus Band was ahead of us. Some fellow hollered back "Why dont you boys tune up a little?" This fellow Harding shouted back, "We'll do our playing at the Fair Grounds" and by gum, we won the first prize"—Ed. Clark, old time bandmaster.

"As a banker."

"There was an old fellow who wanted to borrow about $500. He talked to Warren. Warren made a motion to give him the money and one of Warren's relatives seconded it. The man got just two votes. That was Harding all the way. He was generous to a fault. I don't believe he could have foreclosed a mortgage. And yet, as a banker, he was conservative and careful."—George Copeland, fellow director, Marion County Bank.

"As neighbor-friend."

"Never saw 'W. G.' get mad in thirty years. He was the best natured man I ever saw. He was always busy. It didn't make any difference whether a man was a billionaire or a barber, he was your friend. Never gave me a tip in his life. When a man's your friend you don't tip him. He gave me presents because he was mighty generous."—Haybeck, Harding's favorite barber.

"As a politician."

"That's the trouble, he was not a good politician. He was thoroughly honest and believed too much in the absolute honesty and integrity of others. You'd better headline that: 'Mr. Harding as a public servant.' That would be more in keeping with his character. He always felt that he was a servant."—French Crow, postmaster at Marion.

"As a business man."

"Warren was one of our stockholders. As a man of business he was very thorough. He never passed judgment on a proposition until he knew from all sides. He was a great believer in giving subordinates responsibility and the authority to back it up. He likes to see men get along. He wanted them promoted as fast as they were ready. He was kind and charitable."—James Prendergast, millionaire head of the Prendergast Company.

"As a churchman."

"He was the most loyal man to his church I ever knew. He was a trustee of the church for 25 years. He was not the kind of man who would forget his church when he went away either. He was always looking for some way to improve things. One time we were standing in the church and Mrs. Harding said: 'Doctor, I'd like to take this church and decorate it myself.'"—Dr. T. E. Bryant, fellow trustee of Trinity Baptist Church.

"As a printer."

"'W. G.' used to help out setting type. Most generous man you ever seen. Any tramp printer could get a job and enough for a bite to eat. Asked to get off a couple of days once to take a vacation. Told me to wait for a little while. Finally called me in and gave me tickets to Salt Lake City for my wife and me. 'Tain't right he's gone."—Lou Miller, probably the oldest printer in Ohio.

There's the picture. That's the man who is being brought back to his home town today—Warren G. Harding, citizen of Marion.

Roman Remains in Britain.

Excavating for the foundation of a new factory to be erected at Keynsham, near Bristol, England, workmen recently unearthed Roman remains. The Daily Chronicle of London reports the discovery of coffins containing skeletons, a Roman needle about six inches long, a spoon and a brooch. The brooch is believed to have put the finishing touch upon the toga of a Roman gallant.

Thought for the Day.

The first time a man does you an injustice it is his fault; the second time, it is your fault.

Perhaps It Was for the Best.

Hen Bascom's son went to college but for some reason known only to himself and faculty, he had to quit before he was all through. But as Hen himself admits, if the boy had managed to stick it out, he'd probably come home bearing a black sheepskin.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Truth Still Lives.

The Australasian—Every new aspect of truth is strange to its own contemporaries, and excites hostility, but, however falteringly expressed, truth will abide.

Strange Experience.

My pet hobby is hunting. One day I went hunting and took my little dog. After we were in the timber for a while, the dog disappeared. I called in vain. I decided to hunt some more and then look for the dog, as I thought he had gone home. I tracked a rabbit to a large hollow log, and looked inside. Imagine my surprise at finding the dog inside. He had crawled in to get warm and had stuck in the log.—Chicago Journal.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 9, 1923.

Lady Astor's bill making it illegal to sell intoxicating beverages to persons under 18 years old has now, with the King's signature, become the law of England. From time out of mind American law has forbidden the sale of intoxicants to minors. Lady Aston is to be congratulated upon securing for England a similar though belated law for the protection of youth.

Count Harry Kessler says all Europe will go to the dogs unless the United States takes the side of Germany against France, and that if the United States will come to the rescue Germany will gladly do anything under the sun that is asked of her—except pay anything on the reparations bill, of course. Germany's promise (through Kessler) to be good is worth just about as much as her promise to pay reparations, which appears to be worth nothing whatever.

Senator Underwood of Alabama, candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1924, thinks that 59 years after the end of the Civil War it ought to be possible for a Southern man to be nominated for Presidency and perhaps even to be elected. Wasn't it possible in 1912, only 47 years after? It is true that Woodrow Wilson was elected from New Jersey, his adopted state, but he was born, brought up, practiced law and married in the South before he took up the college work that finally carried him to Princeton.

OFFICIAL RACE PREJUDICE.

A negro youth from New Jersey, who passed the tests for the army's civilian training course, has been informed by a lieutenant detailed to write the letter that he can not be admitted to summer camps for white officer material. The writer of the letter politely regretted that negro applications were not numerous enough to justify the establishment of a separate camp, but such politeness probably more than failed of its purpose because it emphasizes the fact that only through a "Jim Crow" arrangement could the applicant's admission be made compatible with army policy.

The incident is nothing new, and merely serves as a reminder that race prejudice is even officially recognized. As a matter of fact, race prejudice is world wide and a part of the instinctive mental attitude of practically every normal person. Though it may lead to injustice and crime, which should of course be checked by every possible means, race prejudice is in itself, fundamentally, nothing more than the barrier erected by nature in order to prevent interference with its great scheme of life which for some good reason is antagonistic toward the merging of the several grand divisions of the human race into a single mongrel people.

THE FOREIGN "VILLAIN."

The widespread practice of making the villain of melodrama a foreigner is likely to be checked by "business" connected with the sale of American films abroad. We read that in a picture about to be released the villain, a Mexican, has been hastily transformed into a naturalized citizen of the United States. It is doubtful whether this slight modification will be satisfactory to the Mexican government, which has decreed that no American films containing Mexican villains will be received across the Rio Grande. A Mexican villain occasionally might not have given offense, but practically every southwestern melodrama for years has figured a bad man from our neighboring republic, and American producers are now likely to introduce radical reform in this particular with the prospect before them of losing a public of fifteen millions.

As Mexico has not been the only foreign nation to protest, objections from both Germany and Italy being reported, Will H. Hays is said to have undertaken to eliminate the foreign villain in general. A rule to make all the villains Americans would be ridiculous as well as unpopular at home, but it seems that business demands a noticeable movement in that direction. The German villain has been very popular since the war, but to a large extent he must be given up or many sales to Germany will be lost. And so with other countries. Though purely of commercial origin, the reform, if not overdone, may serve a useful purpose both at home and abroad by eliminating or reducing much needless international ill feeling. In all countries a large percentage of the movie public gets its only idea of foreigners from what is seen on the screen.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do all birds incubate their eggs?
2. What animals, if any, eat insects?
3. What is bread-fruit?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. I have noticed flocks of birds perching in apple trees eating frozen apples; black in color and very noisy. What are they?

Very likely starlings, which are very dark in color effect, but show metallic tints with a sprinkling of light spots when seen near to. Bills long, and ivory yellow. They walk, not hop. The size, and circumstance of their being noisy prompts our guess at starling.

2. What do crickets eat? Is it true they eat woolen goods?

The common field crickets are herbivorous, and to some extent cannibal. They do often chew into woolens that are left about. In a published letter about his own youth, Mr. Burroughs recalls how crickets made holes in the woolen stockings hung to dry near the fireplace. They have been known to attack a bathing suit left on a beach.

3. Can trout be kept in a spring that is used for drinking water? what would they eat in winter, when they couldn't get insects?

Trout have been known to live comfortably in a spring if it is large enough. The chief objection would be the introduction of food in winter, which—if every bit of it were not eaten would decay and foul the water. The taste of the spring water would probably be somewhat flavored by the presence of the fish, but this would not be injurious.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Simple Style for Porch Wear or, For Service.

4360. Very unique and quite attractive is the "one piece" model. It may be developed in gingham or linen, or in the new ratine weaves. Figured voile with facings of white ordandie would be cool and pretty.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 5⅜ yards of 36 inch material. For collar, cuffs and facings of contrasting material 1 yard will be required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

TO CELEBRATE EVENTS OF 1776

State Historical Association Working Out Eight-Year Program—Report to Legislature This Winter.

New York state's participation in the events of the American Revolution will be commemorated in an eight year program being worked out by the New York State Historical Association.

The plan is introduced in a circular issued by the association and signed by Peter Nelson, executive secretary, with headquarters in the manuscript room of the education building at Albany. It calls upon mayors, village presidents, town supervisors, historical and patriotic societies and chambers of commerce to cooperate in arranging the 150th anniversary celebration.

The last legislature appropriated $5,000 for a preliminary survey and report on this project, and particularly for commemorating in 1927 the battles of Oriskany, Bennington and Saratoga and other revolutionary events of 1777. A report is to be made to governor and legislature on or before February 1, 1924.

Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck of this city is president of the association. The committee in charge of the celebration includes W. Pierrepont White of Utica, Charles A. Ditmas of Brooklyn, Stephen H. Pell of Ticonderoga, Colonel John W. Vrooman of Herkimer, Alexander J. Wall of New York and Charles H. Wiltsie of Rochester.

The Mohawk Valley Historic Association, given credit for inaugurating plans for the statewide celebration of Revolutionary events, has shown its willingness to step aside and have the appropriation given to the state association so that a body representative of the entire state might carry out the survey and make the report. W. Pierrepont White, president of the Mohawk association, is the leading factor in the celebration preliminaries.

Other states and communities are making elaborate plans for the 150th anniversary. Philadelphia has national, state and city appropriations exceeding $5,000,000, with additional funds subscribed by patriotic citizens.

The New York State Historical Association suggests annual state appropriations for the celebrations of the historical Revolutionary events; markers to designate sites of historic significance; appropriate school exercises; action by the legislature in support of efforts to secure the preservation of the battlefields of Oriskany and Saratoga as national parks; invitations to Canada and border states to join in the celebration of events of special significance to them; improved highway connections to historic spots; the designation of competent state authority to pass on the statements of historic fact placed on permanent markers or memorials, and other observances and actions fitting in connection with the celebration.

Local historical committees have been formed, according to some letters received, and there is evidence of wide-spread interest in the celebration of the great episodes of the Revolution within New York state.

HONESDALE LIKED BOYS' BIG BAND

It Will Be At Exposition Sept. 1 and Rotary's Profit, if Any, From Doubled Admission Will Be Used To Aid Crippled Children.

The Endicott, N. Y., Boys' Band which will be in Kingston on Saturday, September 1, under the auspices of the Kingston Rotary Club and which will be one of the features at the Kingston Exposition as announced last week, is given a very complimentary press notice in The Wayne Independent, the Honesdale, Pa., newspaper.

This band of 60 pieces will be combined with the Exposition on September 1st and will be a decided attraction. On that day a concert will be given both afternoon and evening and on account of the added attraction an admission charge of fifty cents will be made this day only. Any profit derived by the Rotary Club will be for the boy's work and crippled children.

The Independent in reporting the second appearance of the band in Honesdale says:

"The Endicott, N. Y., Boys' Band, under the direction of a former townsman, Robert M. Dorin, made their second appearance at Honesdale Saturday under the auspices of the Stourbridge Playground Association and were greeted by a large and enthusiastic crowd at the armory in the evening. Even those who were compelled to stand during the long program felt fully repaid with the excellent music which varied with the classical and popular airs.

"The 60 boys and leader appeared in their new kiltie uniforms and looked very natty. The program opened with a Little Bit of Scotch, written by Robert Dorin, son of the leader; march, Passing in Review; saxophone solo, Little Crumbs of Happiness, by Worth Dittrich, formerly of Honesdale; march, Under the Double Eagle; Pizzi Catto polka, Blue Bells of Scotland with piccolo solo, by Kenneth O'Hara, age ten years; Bohemian Girl, overture; march Zouaves featuring with a trombone solo, When You and I Were Young, by Franklin Dittrich; Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here; National League March; Star Spangled Banner.

"During the concert little Jimmy, age six years, son of B. H. Dittrich, was introduced to the audience. The midget plays a snare drum."

ICEBOX COOLED BY ELECTRICITY

Something new in refrigeration is attracting the attention of housewives this week at Stock & Cordts's on lower Broadway where the Kelvinator electric system of cooling iceboxes is being demonstrated in one of the store's big show windows. The system is operated by electricity and the motor is hooked to the lighting system of the house. The amount of electricity used daily is said to be less than the cost of ice. The icebox to which the Kelvinator is attached is one of the iceboxes taken from the large stock carried by the store. The kelvinator consists briefly stated of but two things, a refrigerating part and a condensing part together with their connecting pipes. The refrigerating part, consisting of brine tank and the thermostatic control, goes into the ice chamber of the icebox. The condensing part, consisting of compressor, motor and condenser coil, is installed in the basement or some other out of the way place and the connecting pipes go through the floor.

SUN SHONE AND GIRLS PICNICKED; ANOTHER EVENT.

Tuesday afternoon the sun shone upon the summer sociability club of the Y. W. C. A. and the girls had their twice-postponed picnic at Forsyth Park. Of course, the first thing on the program was the eating of the picnic supper by the large number of girls present And what a treat they did have. A good friend of the girls had presented them with a whopping big watermelon. Well, after they had got "all het up" playing tennis and baseball and other games, the call came to demolish that watermelon, and how the girls did enjoy it, and how they did heap blessings upon the head of the donor. Now the next chapter is that next Tuesday the summer sociability club hopes to outdo itself in the way of a good time, for all the girls, too. But they are not quite ready to talk for publication yet, so girls of Kingston, just watch The Freeman for further news of next Tuesday's doings.

STREET LAMPS IN BALTIMORE MORE COSTLY THAN OURS.

An article in the American City Magazine on the subject of street lighting in Baltimore, Md., shows that the price paid there for 60 candlepower incandescent lights ranges from $25.30 to $43.75 a year, according to location and whether the transmission lines are overhead or underground. For 400 candlepower lights the cost is from $56 to $80. The prices asked in Kingston are $23.50 for 60 candlepower lights and $72 for 600 candlepower lights, the latter being 50 per cent more powerful than the 400 candlepower lights used in Baltimore.

How My Feet Burn and Callouses and Corns Hurt—What Shall I Do?"

USE "GYPSY FOOT RELIEF"

NO more soaking the feet in medicated baths—no powders, plasters, nor inconvenience—no fuss—no bother! Applied in one minute, the awful burning, soreness, aching and pains from corns, callouses and bunions disappear as if by magic!—then you walk, work, dance and stay on your feet as long as you please!

BECAUSE:

WHEN the blood vessels in your feet become gorged with blood from walking or dancing on hard floors or pavements, friction from your shoes irritates and inflames the blood vessels, then the smarting, burning, aching and pain becomes unbearable. Plasters, powders, liquid acids and soaking in baths is useless, because none of these things get at the underlying cause. But Gypsy Foot Relief penetrates, goes right in to the inflamed blood vessels, relieves the congestion, soothes, and cools the entire foot. Naturally the soreness, aching and burning stops, because you have reached the cause. Successful results are guaranteed in every case, or you get back the little Gypsy Foot Relief costs! NO "FOOL TIME" AT COUNTY PICNIC

String of Events Being Arranged Which Should Keep Everyone Busy and Send Them Home With Full Stomachs.

The committee in charge of the County Picnic at Camp Wallkill on August 18th reports all arrangements for the big day going forward in great shape with the exception of the program of events.

At the recent committee meeting the Chamber of Commerce committee and the Farm and Home Bureau committee precipitated themselves into a violent argument by raising the question as to whether the events should be run on "standard" time or "Fool" time. The Chamber of Commerce committee finally consented to act in a sensible manner and forego their "Fool" time for a day, so that now the whole program will be based on "standard" time.

The ball game, which is scheduled for 3 p. m., will be played between Gardiner and the "Old Kingstons." The Old Kingstons team is as follows:

Mrs. Elmer Smith is busy making ready for the cooking of her berry pies for the unique pie-eating contest that is scheduled for the lunch hour. The details of this contest absolutely cannot be given out before the picnic day, but it's going to be a real one and the winner gets a $5 gold piece.

The Home Bureau is arranging a bread making contest with a 25 pound bag of G. L. F. quality flour as the prize. The bread must be at the picnic ground at 11 a. m. (standard time). Each community may exhibit one or two loaves made by different people. The bread will be judged according to taste, texture, crumb, crust and general appearance.

Mrs. Dr. G. F. Rice will be in charge of the rest tent. In order to make it a real picnic for everybody, mother included, there will be clothes baskets provided in which an attempt will be made to make the small babies sleep. There will be an attendant there with whom older babies may be left to play. Each mother is to bring blankets for the baby to lie on and covering. Those bringing older babies are asked to bring a toy for them to play with.

Miss Passmore, the Recreational Director of the Kingston Y. W. C. A., has kindly given her service for the day to help the women and girls have a good time.

The Home Bureau is to supply the "eats," including hot dogs, sandwiches, ice cold milk drinks, Home Bureau coffee, cake and fruit, punch and plenty of Hosler's ice cream. Mr. Dessert of the Hosler Ice Cream Company had to produce absolute proof that his ice cream was made entirely of "pooled milk before the committee agreed to use his ice cream.

The Home Bureau clothing exhibit will be put on as in the past, showing the clothing work of the Home Bureau communities in parts of the county.

Swimming races for men, boys and a race for girls will be added features of the day, as also will be the diving exhibition put on by the boys at Camp Wallkill.

The Kerhonkson Horse-shoe team, "Ben" Davis and "Gordon" Churchwell are practicing regularly with a grim determination to defeat the Gardiner team. It will be remembered that Kerhonkson was second in last year's tournament.

The boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. will be closed Friday afternoon out of respect to the late president, Warren G. Harding. All activities scheduled will be postponed.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A., a memorial service will be held. The program will consist of singing, prayer and a short address. All boys of the division are requested to be present. Boys of the city are invited to attend the service.

REDISCOUNTS HOLD OVER TO MONDAY

Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, sends out the following:

As you are aware, Friday, August 10, 1923, has been declared a legal holiday. In this connection your attention is directed to Section 85 of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law (substantially adopted by Section 145 of the New York Laws), which reads as follows:

"Sec. 85. Time of Maturity—Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before twelve o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday."

It appears that under the foregoing provision the maturity of obligations falling due on Friday, August 10, a legal holiday, is extended to Monday, August 13, and it follows that interest or discount runs to the latter day. Therefore, on all rediscounts and advances made by this bank which fall due on August 10, unless prepayment is made before August 13, additional discount for the days after August 10 will be charged at our current rate of 4½ per cent per annum.

At 20 a young man wants a chorus girl.

At 25 he wants a vision of H. C. Christy type.

At 30 he wants a good woman—mother type.

At 35 he wants an economical, thrifty woman.

At 40 he wants a woman with some money—widow, maybe.

At 50 he wants a young woman.

LEAGUE MEMBERS GET CERTIFICATES

To Cover Their Investments in Co-operative Milk Marketing Organization—Bear Six Per Cent Interest.

The Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc., is mailing to its members certificates of indebtedness aggregating $4,622,579.76. This amount represents loans by members to the association during the past fiscal year for the erection of milk plants, and as working capital. The certificates bear six per cent interest and are payable in equal installments each year for a period of five years.

The rate of deductions from milk checks during the past fiscal year was $.13769654 per 100 pounds of milk as compared with a rate of $.16791-134 per 100 pounds for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, when the deductions amounted to $4,307,-727.48.

The decrease in the rate is accounted for in part by the fact that during the past fiscal year the association marketed about one billion pounds more milk than it marketed during the previous year, although the number of actual poolers was not as large as in 1921 and 1922.

Where the deductions from the farmers' milk check amount to less than a dollar, a check for the amount will be mailed instead of a certificate of indebtedness.

The accounting department of the association expects to distribute all the certificates of indebtedness by August 20.

CITY BOARDER DROWNS AT MALDEN

Wednesday morning the Hudson river claimed another victim when Joseph DePondt, aged 20 years, whose home is in Brooklyn, met death in the waters off the Pulliver dock at Malden.

Mr. DePondt had been a guest at the Malden House, managed by Mrs. Faulkner, and while bathing, unable to swim, got out into deep water and sank before help could reach him. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble and this was thought to cause him to disappear under the water so quickly. Doctors Chidester and Kamp arrived soon after the body was recovered but their help was unavailing, as life was extinct.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. INT.

Under the press of business that fell on him when he assumed the Presidency, Mr. Coolidge has been actually too busy to go to the dining room for a real luncheon since he has been in Washington. Mrs. Coolidge, practical housewife, insists that Mr. Coolidge partake of nourishment and prepares a light luncheon for him in their private apartments in the Hotel Willard, serving it to the President at his desk.

Coolidge Inspects Guard.

John F. McI...

If there hadn't been a police union in Boston there wouldn't have been a police strike. And if there hadn't been a police strike Calvin Coolidge, then Governor of Massachusetts, wouldn't have had a chance to refuse to "arbitrate the law." As it was, the Governor took a firm hold in the crisis, ordered State troops to do police duty and refused to permit the strikers to return to their posts. Overnight he became a national figure, and his nomination to the Vice-Presidency followed. The man who organized the police union and led the strike was John F. McInnes, World War veteran. McInnes, who banded 1,400 policemen together lost his job, along with 1,100 of his comrades. He is said now to be dying of an incurable malady in the outskirts of Boston. The then Governor Coolidge is shown inspecting the National Guard on September 16, 1919, during the strike.

Perfect Tribute. ...

Typifying the sorrow of the American people and the perfect tribute to the memory of Warren G. Harding, this trio knelt for a moment in silent prayer before the portals of the White House. They are: Mrs. Mary M. Thatcher, Mrs. T. M. Thatcher and her son, William, of Chicago.

SERVICE AT CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, corner Wurts and Rogers streets, in accordance with the requests of the national and state authorities, will hold its memorial services at the hour at which the citizens of Marion are assembled for the nation's final tribute to the dead president. The service will begin at 4 o'clock with the ringing of the chimes. President Harding's favorite hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," and and "Nearer My God to Thee" on the great chimes in the tower will serve as a community tribute of the downtown section. Memorial vespers will be the order of the services. The pastor, the Rev. William J. Nelson, will deliver a brief eulogy. Miss Mildred Messinger will sing A. H. Behrend's "Crossing the Bar," of Tennyson, and the choir will sing "We Would See Jesus Ere the Shadows Lengthen." The organist will play "Melody Pathetique" of Gounod as a prelude and the "Funeral March" of Beethoven as a postlude. A tolling of twenty-one minute-bells will conclude the service. The time of this service does not conflict with the union services of the downtown congregations.

Miss C. Ellen Dunbar & Miss Aurora Pierce.

Miss C. Ellen Dunbar, of Plymouth, Va., is the country school mistress who taught "Cal" Coolidge his "three R's." She remembers well that the now taciturn President of the United States was a mischievous lad but an excellent scholar. Miss Aurora Pierce, the housekeeper in the home of Colonel J. C. Coolidge, the President's father, at Plymouth, Vt., can bake the best pies in the world, President Coolidge declares, and he shows a particular fondness for her rhubarb pies.

Poorly Planned Legs.

Dinosaurs' legs were of the usual active terrestrial type, shaped like an "X" on edge. In order to gain power for the talonlike toeballs, heavy muscles had to be located low down on the foot. This materially aided in giving the solidity to the hind legs which the upper structure demanded, but it must have seriously hampered the beast's activity.

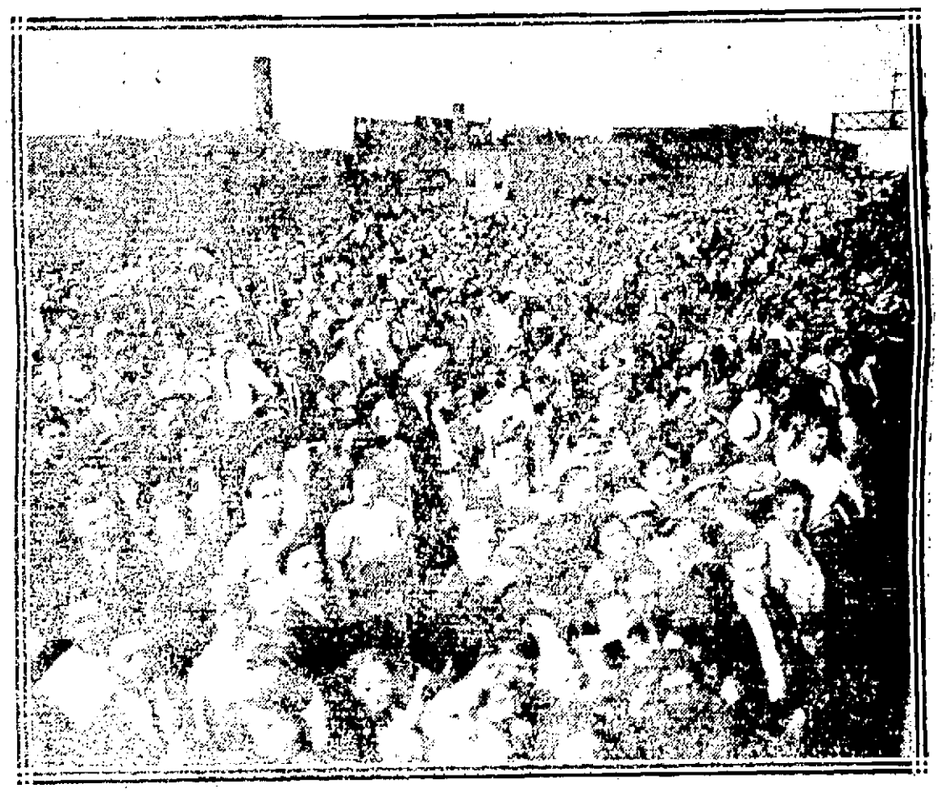
STORE WILL CLOSE FRIDAY AFTERNOON ONE O'CLOCK.



Thousands of mourners, those who loved Warren G. Harding for his kindliness, watched the progress of the funeral train as it passed through Chicago on its way eastward. The crowds, in which children predominated, hampered the progress of the train, which was hurrying to keep the schedule. Mrs. Harding Harding asked that the train's progress be retarded. "We—Warren and I—love, or have always loved children so."

BATTERIES GO INTO MOURNING

Proclamation of Governor Smith Read to Men Assembled at Armory Wednesday Evening.

The members of Batteries E and I assembled at the armory Wednesday evening in uniform and heard the proclamation of Governor Smith in respect to the death of the late President Harding read to them. The proclamation was as follows:

"The nation with deep feeling of sorrow, learns of the loss of its president, Warren Gamaliel Harding.

"History records the fact that the best years of his life were devoted to the public service. He assumed his duties as Chief Executive of the nation at a critical period in the country's history. He gave to the great office all his strength and energy, and his love of and devotion to his wife, as well as his sense of satisfaction in the just pride of his father in a son's achievement, will always remain a noble lesson and example for the present as well as generations to come.

"Almighty God is all wise and all just. He has showered his blessings upon this country without reserve, and the American people, grieved at heart, bow before Him to say 'Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven.' Let us ask that in His infinite mercy He may continue His watchful care over this great country; that He may bring solace and comfort to the bereaved wife and family, and that He may give wisdom and strength to Calvin Coolidge, so suddenly called upon to assume a great responsibility.

"As Chief Executive of the State of New York, I request that flags upon all public buildings, including arsenals and armories, be displayed at half-mast up to and including the day that the mortal remains of the late president are laid to rest."

ALFRED E. SMITH

The order which was read to the men further stated that the officers of the National Guard should wear the prescribed badges of mourning at their swords and that the colors of the regiments, battalions and squadrons should be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days.

Fire at New Paltz.

Tuesday evening at New Paltz fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the barn of Cornelius H. DuBois and partly destroyed the wagon house adjoining. The loss is estimated at $4,000. One horse was lost in the flames. The village fire department did excellent work in saving the wagon house from destruction along with a number of other buildings.

Too Youthful a Pet.

Uncle Dick sent Mary a puppy for her birthday. But the new pet soon proved very troublesome to the neighbors, digging up flower seed and carrying off laundry from the yard. After hearing many complaints Mary became discouraged and she sighed hopelessly, "I do wish uncle had sent an adult dog."

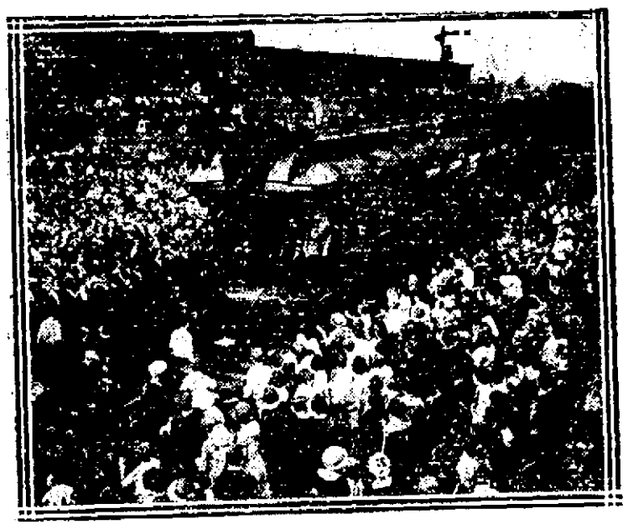
ONE CENT A WORD ADVS. BRING RESULTS

A mammoth wreath of the late President Harding's favorite flower, the rose, together with stately es and fragrant lilies of the valley, formed Chicago's tribute to the dead leader. Bearing a white rib- n with the gold letters "Chicago's Sympathy," it was laid on the casket as the funeral train passed ough the city where in 1920 Harding was nominated for the presidency.



With the mountains and sunbaked plains of the far west and the waving stretches of midwestern corn behind, the car bearing the remains of Warren G. Harding passed through Chicago on the last lap of its sad journey. Thousands thronged the tracks along its course through the city.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Aug. 8.—Auxiliary Club members were most cordially welcomed Friday, August 3rd, at the home of Mrs. George Cowler, with Mrs. Edward Tubbs as assistant. There was a large gathering of the members who were ready for business transactions. The weather man sent rain, and that hindered some from coming. The heat was oppressive, yet the meeting was interesting. Harmony and cooperation pointed the way to good opening for fall demonstrations in club work, for at present, many are on their vacations, and through the heated time the club members never attempt much work, but in fall all have more ambition. At the meeting regular routine business was transacted. The Near East money to be raised by the club is going on nicely, for the group of women are interested. The first group of 25 with the president, Mrs. R. H. Decker as chairman, were delightfully entertained at the summer home of Mrs. F. Welker, of New York, where a delightful social was held and money raised, and all partook of delicious chicken salad, olives, sandwiches, cake and iced tea and bountifully helped to elegant cherries, and all hated to leave the attractive place and hostess who had given them such a delightful treat. Group 2 has for chairman Mrs. D. H. Kurtz. That will also be a very interesting meeting, at Mrs. Fowler's. After all committees had been appointed and the work of the afternoon finished the hostesses, Fowler and Tubbs, served a delicious menu; and such large portions and with it the grape punch, which was so cool and refreshing that it seemed one could scarcely stop drinking, and the women after talking on the various subjects of the day decided they had eaten so much that the meal at night would be dispensed with in their homes, and all left with pleasant thoughts of the entertainers of the club.

Captain R. H. Decker spent some time this week in Pleasant Valley with Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Decker.

Gordon Kurtz of New York, spent the week-end at his home here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Kurtz.

Walter Seaman was in Poughkeepsie Monday on business.

Wednesday evening, August 1st members of Ida McKinley Council, No. 65, D. of A. held a very enthusiastic meeting with large numbers present. Mrs. Daisy Kurtz acted as councilor, and there was balloting, also initiation of three candidates. The degree team and Captain Kurtz did the work of the evening very nicely. Candidates could not fail to be impressed. The growth of the order throughout the state has grown each year. Mrs. Emma Davis was installed as a representative, she being absent when the D. S. C. installed officers. This is the home council of the A. S. V. C. and all ought to feel honored, that in the Hudson valley, a state officer was chosen, remembering officers should be chosen for their loyalty, zeal and fitness for the various stations that they will assume in your council chambers. The success or failure of any enterprise depends upon the character and caliber of the people engaged in it. At conclusion of work a delightful "Howl" lunch was enjoyed, and midnight D. of A. people left for their homes with pleasant memories of the order.

Mr. and Mrs. Madlin of White street have as their guest for a short time their son Jack, of Brooklyn, and he is enjoying his vacation very much.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gunsalus of Vineyard avenue, had guests the past week from Long Island City.

Mrs. Decker has an invitation from Loyalty Club, of which she is a member, to attend a day's outing at West Brighton, Staten Island, on Tuesday, the 14th.

Charles Bickert of Danbury, Conn., has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eliott Wilcox. They also have as guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schamerhorn and daughter of New York, and friends from Newark, and all have just had a fine time at Watson Hollow, the Wilcox Camp.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS REELECT FLAHERTY

Visitors to Montreal Convention Reach 25,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Montreal, Aug. 9.—James A. Flaherty was reelected Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus Wednesday. He has been supreme knight fourteen years and has been returned unanimously eight times.

The second session of the convention discussed the reconstruction program which deals with proposed economies, reduction in salaries paid to supreme officers and also would limit their tenure of office and revise the rules and regulations of the order.

Delegates and visitors to the convention, who now number approximately 25,000, continue to pour into the city, one of the latest contingents being the New York delegation which arrived on the Rapids Queen, having made the journey from Niagara Falls by water. This party, like many others, deciding to make the trip one of pleasure as well as business, left New York last Saturday, journeying via Niagara Falls thence to Lewiston and by boat to Montreal.

A Rochester party of about one thousand has arrived at the Mount Royal Hotel and some 700 from Philadelphia are using their Pullman cars for lodging.

$350 CLEARED AT CLAMBAKE

Very favorable weather played its part Wednesday evening, in the successful completion of the clambake conducted by the Winners Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. The grounds adjoining the New York State Armory on Broadway accommodated very comfortably five hundred hungry people in attendance at the bake.

At 6:30 o'clock the clambake was uncovered by the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, pastor of the church, and in five minutes everyone was being served with the first course of the appetizing menu.

The corps of workers who assisted at the bake served the hungry folks with out any congestion and kept them occupied until closing time. From the expressions gathered at the bake everyone had his appetite completely satisfied and the Rev. Mr. Greenwell was pronounced an expert along this line.

About one hundred and fifty tardy folks were disappointed when they could not secure tickets at the last minute and they were turned away. As was stated in advance accommodations could only be made for those who secured tickets within the proper time limit.

Three hundred and fifty dollars was cleared which is a nice sum to be added to the fund for the benefit of the church.

ANNIVERSARY OF CEDAR MOUNTAIN

Just sixty-one years ago today, August 9, 1862, at the first break of day, the booming of cannon in the distance from where the Union troops were stationed told the Civil war soldiers that the battle of Cedar Mountain was on. E. J. Nichols of this city who was one of the participants and was wounded in battle, in speaking of the battle today, said:

"We had been marching and counter marching for weeks in the hot sun and footsore, when we reached Culpepper, Friday night, August 8, 1862, camped near the village. About 4 p. m. August 9th, the long roll brought the first sergeants to headquarters for instructions and we were ordered to advance in light marching order to the scene of action. Nine miles at double quick to Cedar Mountain; the booming of cannon, the rushing of field artillery, the dashing of cavalry, the manoeuvering of regiments of infantry made a clatter and excitement similar to but exceeding the wild demonstration of the first news of the armistice in the World War.

"We arrived on the field about 9 o'clock a. m. and the battle raged furiously until dark. Capt. Arthur Cavanaugh of this city was the first to fall shot through the thigh and lived about three weeks. Our regiment the 102d N. Y. V. lost 50 per cent in killed, wounded and missing."

HARDING MEMORIAL AT FIRST DUTCH

The consistory of the First Dutch and the Kingston Ministerial Association after a careful consideration of the hour at which the service should be held, have decided to adhere to the one originally announced, three o'clock. Arrangements have been made at the First Dutch for the choirs of all the churches to occupy seats in the choir gallery and they are urged to do so, as it is desired that the singing of President Harding's favorite hymns, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer My God to Thee," shall be impressive in volume. The Burgevins generously have given beautiful white flowers for the pulpit vases at the First Dutch. Following an ancient custom, the bell of that church will be tolled fifty-eight times before the service, and an equal number of times as the congregation are leaving the church edifice, the number corresponding to the president's age.

Bigamist Is Freed to Save Family From Want

Salem, Ore.—Capt. J. D. Wetherill, seventy-five, under sentence of two years in the penitentiary here for bigamy, was liberated for a month. He was released that he might assist in completing a mining deal in British Columbia and thereby save his family from destitution and also protect others interested with him in the mine. He has pledged himself to return.

Loud "Amens" to Blame.

Detroit, Mich.—Barred from Berea tabernacle because they shouted too loud "amens," Edward and Alonzo Bates have filed suit for an injunction against the congregation. The brothers ask that the congregation be restrained from keeping them out of church.

John Witherspoon.

Rev. John Witherspoon was the only clergyman signing the Declaration of Independence. His statue is at the corner of Connecticut avenue and Eighteenth street, Washington.

Animal Collector's Experience With Orang-Utan.

Incident Illustrates the Remarkable Strength Possessed by the Jungle Beast.

To transfer a wild animal from one cage to another is a simple matter. Food is placed on the floor of the new cage, and this is backed up to the open end of the old one; the bars are lifted and the beast walks into his new quarters. Nothing could be easier, and yet at the time of which I am writing I still feel twinges from an almost fatal accident that happened to me when I was putting an orang-utan into a larger cage at my animal house in Singapore.

He was just short of full-grown, a peaceable sort of fellow. His favorite food, a large onion, was in his new home, which was pushed up against his old cage. I was on top of this, pulling up the bars to let him move out. The iron sockets were rusty, and I had some trouble in shaking the bars loose. At last there was only one left, but that was stuck fast.

While I was trying to shake it free with both hands, my left hand, fortunately, grasping and covering the end of it, suddenly the thing shot up and—my hand still covering the end—gave me a terrible blow, which knocked my nose flat against the side of my face and sent me rolling, unconscious, off the cage. My men, who did not realize that I was hurt, roared with laughter.

What had happened was this: The orang, having watched me pull up the other bars, caught the idea of what I was trying to do. He was impatient to get at that tempting onion, so he grabbed the bar and shot it up. If my hand had not been over the top of it, he would have killed me.

The next time I saw the orang, Hsi Chu, I was feeding him boiled rice and talking to him in Malay. What I heard him say was something like this: "If I could make you work, you jungle-man, I wouldn't do a lick for a year." Certainly the beast had a terrible strength. My nose is still crooked as a mark of it.—Charles Mayer in Asia.

Laws Against Kissing.

Kissing is considered an unhealthy practice by some people. A few years ago the physicians of Milwaukee prepared a bill for the absolute suppression of kissing, on the ground that the practice was hygienically dangerous.

The bill did not become law or it would have made Milwaukee more famous. But such laws existed in Puritan New England. In 1656 Captain Kemble of Boston was "set for two hours in the public stocks for his lewd and unseemly behaviour,' which consisted in 'kissing his wife publiquely on the Sabbath-day, upon the doorstep of his house,' when he had just returned from an absence of three years." Twelve years later "Jonathan and Susannah Smith were each fined five shillings and costs for smiling on the Lord's day." The smile, it would appear, was only less heinous than the kiss itself.

Remarkable Telescope.

Many interesting new features have been embodied in an astronomical telescope recently supplied by an English firm to the Brazilian government. This telescope is 18 inches in diameter and has two photographic star cameras placed above the main tube. The vertical axis of the telescope revolves in ball bearings—the introduction of which has been attended with complete success. Not only do they render the telescope very easy to set, but they reduce the work which has to be done by the clock which drives the telescope so as to keep it fixed upon a certain portion of the heavens for photographic purposes. So accurately made is the whole mechanism that it will maintain the telescope directed to a particular star for three or four hours without the slightest adjustment.

Gardens Inside Houses.

Pompeii is being made to look as much as possible as it did when the clouds of ashes and streams of lava overwhelmed it from Vesuvius. Professor Spinazzola has discovered that the houses were two-story structures; previously people thought them one story. They had little balconies overhanging the streets. The shops had windows of slats fastened by a long bar. Inside many houses were little gardens no bigger than a good-sized table. From the flower designs of the frescoes on the walls he has learned the varieties of the flowers that the inhabitants of Pompeii knew and has replanted the gardens with the flowers that decorated the beds almost two thousand years ago!

Best Work After Seventy.

The ten most useful years of my life as a missionary were those between the years of seventy and eighty, says Rev. W. F. Johnson, D. D. Sixty-three years ago he and his wife sailed from Boston to begin their missionary service in India. Doctor Johnson, who is now eighty-two years of age, has contributed very largely to the literature made accessible to Indian Christians by translation and also by authorship, and in this field, perhaps, he has achieved his greatest success as a missionary. During the last ten years the simplified Hindi version of the four gospels was prepared and published, and 58,000 of these have already been put into circulation.

Making a Business of It.

Speaking of golf, or that highly important phase of the game—toting the clubs—caddies in England make a business of it for life. An American golfer in the recent tournament over in England had a caddie who had been carrying clubs for 36 years.

Signature of the Cross.

In olden times the signature of the cross, now made by persons who are unable to write, was not confined to the illiterate class. Among the Saxons the mark of the cross, as an attestation of good faith of the person signing, was required to be attached to the signature of those who could write, as well as to stand in the place of the signature of those who could not write.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. James Curran died this morning at Ravena. Mrs. Curran was a former resident of this city. She is survived by a son and daughter. Funeral Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, Ravena, with a requiem Mass for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, Ravena.

Mr. Blair was well known in this city having been a frequent visitor. He was one of the judges annually at the chrysanthemum contest at the Valentin Burgevin, Inc., greenhouse when prizes were given to the employes raising the finest chrysanthemums. Funeral services were held today at St. Margaret's Church in Staatsburg.

Carl Fehmer, who died of pneumonia at the Kingston City Hospital Wednesday afternoon, had been a resident of Kingston for the past three years, making his home at the Eagle Hotel. He came to this city from Boston, where he had lived since early childhood. He was, during his active years, one of the foremost architects of Massachusetts, having built the old Tremont Temple, the famous music hall where the Boston Symphony Orchestra and the old Handel and Haydn Society gave their concerts. It is known throughout the state for its beauty and marvelous acoustic properties. Mr. Fehmer also planned and built the addition to the Massachusetts State House in Boston and the first building of the Institute of Technology. The beautiful country place of the late Governor Ames of Massachusetts was his design also. He was one of the founders of the well known St. Botolph Club of Boston. Mr. Fehmer retired from active work over thirty years ago and spent some years after that in Europe. Returning to Boston in 1901 he lived there until the death of his wife, shortly after which he came to Kingston. BINNEWATER LIGHTING MATTER IS HELD OPEN Until State Engineers Can Make An Investigation.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Aug. 9.—In connection with the complaint of residents of Binnewater asking that the Honk Falls Power Company furnish electric service to residents of that community Nicholas F. Lippert appeared with two other complainants and alleged that there were about 25 persons who would guarantee to take service if it could be made available. Randall J. LeBoeuf, Jr., appeared as attorney for Charles P. Dickinson, owner of the Honk Falls Power Company, and stated that the company estimated the line would cost $2,700. There were but 12 persons who would agree to take service within six months after construction of the line. The Power Company stated that it was ready to construct 100 feet free for each consumer who would agree to take service, and furnish service provided the remainder of the cost was donated by the applicants. The matter was adjourned for one month, during which time the commission will have a study of the situation made by its engineering division to see if some way cannot be arrived at by which the service desired can be furnished without making a charge to the residents.
